Health Fee Elimination

DECISION PURSUANT TO GOVERNMENT CODE SECTION 17500 ET SEQ.; CALIFORNIA CODE OF REGULATIONS, TITLE 2, DIVISION 2,
CHAPTER 2.5. ARTICLE 7

(Adopted May 29, 2015)

(Served June 3, 2015)

DECISION

The Commission on State Mandates (Commission) heard and decided this incorrect reduction claim (IRC) during a regularly scheduled hearing on May 29, 2015. Jim Venneman and Jim Spano appeared on behalf of the State Controller's Office. No one appeared on behalf of claimant.

The law applicable to the Commission's determination of a reimbursable state-mandated program is article XIII B, section 6 of the California Constitution, Government Code section 17500 et seq., and related case law.

The Commission adopted the proposed decision to deny the IRC at the hearing by a vote of 7-0.

Summary of the Findings

This analysis addresses reductions by the State Controller's Office (Controller) to reimbursement claims of the Rancho Santiago Community College District (claimant) for fiscal years 2000-2001, 2001-2002, and 2002-2003 under the Health Fee Elimination program. The Controller reduced all costs claimed during the audit period for the following reasons: (1) salaries, benefits, and services and supplies of $195,045 were already funded by state categorical funds; (2) salaries and benefits of $25,289 for a school psychologist was incorrectly allocated to the mandated program; (3) indirect costs were overstated by $570,878; and (4) claimant failed to deduct authorized offsetting fees totaling $796,744 from the claims.

Pursuant to Government Code section 17551(d), the Commission concludes that the following adjustments in the Controller's audit of the 2000-2001, 2001-2002, and 2002-2003 reimbursement claims are correct as a matter of law, and the Controller's recalculations are not arbitrary, capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support:

- The reduction of claimed indirect costs by $570,878, based on claimant’s failure to comply with the claiming instructions and the OMB Circular in the development of its indirect cost rate, and the Controller’s recalculation of indirect costs by an alternative method authorized by the claiming instructions.
- The reduction of $796,744, on the basis that claimant was authorized to collect a total of $2,195,764 in offsetting fees for the program pursuant to the court’s ruling in Clovis Unified School Dist. v. Chiang (2010) 188 Cal.App.4th 794, 812. Claimant only reported offsetting fees collected in the amount of $1,399,020.

The reduction of indirect costs reduces claimants total remaining costs claimed to $2,148,725 ($2,719,603 less $570,878 reduction for overstated indirect costs equals $2,148,725). Because the total authorized offsetting fees ($2,195,764) are higher than direct costs claimed and the allowable indirect costs combined ($2,148,725), the Commission does not address the remaining issues relating to the use of categorical funding and the salary and benefit amounts that the Controller found were incorrectly allotted to the program.

Accordingly, the Commission denies this IRC.

II. Background

Health Fee Elimination Program

Prior to 1984, former Education Code section 72246 authorized community college districts that voluntarily provided health supervision and services, direct and indirect medical and hospitalization services, or operation of student health centers to charge almost all students a health service fee not to exceed $7.50 for each semester or $5 for each quarter or summer session, to fund these services.¹¹ In 1984, the Legislature repealed the community colleges' fee authority for health services.¹² However, the Legislature also reenacted section 72246, to become operative on January 1, 1988, in order to reauthorize the fee at $7.50 for each semester (or $5 per quarter or summer semester).¹³

In addition to temporarily repealing community college districts' authority to levy a health services fee, the 1984 enactment required any district that provided health services during the 1983-1984 fiscal year, for which districts were previously authorized to charge a fee, to maintain health services at the level provided during the 1983-1984 fiscal year for every subsequent fiscal year until January 1, 1988.¹⁴ As a result, community college districts were required to maintain health services provided in the 1983-1984 fiscal year without fee authority for this purpose until January 1, 1988.

In 1987, the Legislature amended former Education Code section 72246, operative January 1, 1988, to incorporate and extend the maintenance of effort provisions of former Education Code section 72246.5, which became inoperative by its own terms as of January 1, 1988.¹⁵ In addition, Statutes 1987, chapter 1118 restated that the fee would be reestablished at not more than $7.50 for each semester, or $5 for each quarter or summer semester.¹⁶ As a result, failure of the Controller to file a rebuttal to an incorrect reduction claim shall not serve to delay the consideration of the claim by the Commission.” However, in this instance, due to the backlog of IRCs, these late comments have not delayed consideration of this item and so have been included in the analysis and proposed decision.

beginning January 1, 1988 all community college districts were required to maintain the same level of health services they provided in the 1986-1987 fiscal year each year thereafter, with limited fee authority to offset the costs of those services.¹⁷ In 1992, section 72246 was amended to provide that the health fee could be increased by the same percentage as the Implicit Price Deflator whenever that calculation would produce an increase of one dollar.¹⁸

On November 20, 1986, the Commission determined that Statutes 1984, chapter 1 imposed a reimbursable state-mandated new program on community college districts. On August 27, 1987, the Commission adopted parameters and guidelines for the Health Fee Elimination program. On May 25, 1989, the Commission adopted amendments to the parameters and guidelines to reflect amendments made by Statutes 1987, chapter 1118.

The parameters and guidelines generally provide that eligible community college districts shall be reimbursed for the costs of providing a health services program, and that only services specified in the parameters and guidelines and provided by the community college district in the 1986-1987 fiscal year are eligible for reimbursement.

Controller's Audit and Summary of the Issues

The Controller reduced the reimbursement claims for the claimant's alleged costs incurred during fiscal years 2000-2001, 2001-2002, and 2002-2003 under the Health Fee Elimination program. The following reductions are in dispute:

- Salaries and benefits and services and supplies of $195,045 that Controller found were already funded with state categorical funds;
- Salary and benefits of $25,989 for a school psychologist that Controller found were incorrectly allocated to the mandated program;
- Indirect costs of $570,878; and
- Health fee authority of $796,744 that was not reported as offsetting fees.

As more fully discussed in this decision, the Commission finds that the Controller correctly reduced the costs claimed based on claimant's offsetting fee authority and overstated indirect costs. Since the total authorized offsetting fee authority for the audit period ($2,195,764) is higher than the direct costs claimed and the indirect costs allowed by the Controller combined ($2,148,725), the Commission does not address the remaining issues relating to the alleged use of categorical funding and the salary and benefits the Controller found were incorrectly allotted to the program.¹⁹

¹⁷ In 1992, section 72246 was amended to provide that the health fee could be increased by the same percentage as the Implicit Price Deflator whenever that calculation would produce an increase of one dollar. III. Positions of the Parties

Rancho Santiago Community College District

The claimant argues that the Controller incorrectly reduced indirect costs, categorical program salaries and benefits claimed for fiscal years 2000-2003, as well as some offsetting fees, and requests reinstatement of the costs incorrectly reduced.

Claimant disagrees that the state categorical funds should be identified as an offset, asserting that the Partnership for Excellence program funds were not appropriated as “a direct result” of the statute that created the student health services program, nor were the funds “reimbursement for this mandate received from any source” as provided in Government Code section 17556.

Claimant further states that the Academic Senate and Matriculation program funding was not received as a direct result of the health service program statutes or as a state or federal reimbursement specifically for the student health program.²⁰

Claimant disagrees with the reduction of costs claimed for the salary and benefits of the staff psychologist. Claimant argues that counseling is an appropriate expenditure of program funds and claimant’s documentation supports the type of service provided as well as the allocation to the health services program.²¹

Claimant also disputes the Controller’s finding that indirect costs were overstated because the indirect cost rate proposal was not federally approved. Claimant asserts that there is no requirement in law for federal approval of these rates. Since the claiming instructions were never adopted as regulations they do not have the force of law. According to the claimant, the burden of proof is on the Controller to show that the district’s calculation is excessive or unreasonable.²²

Claimant maintains that it is inappropriate to reduce any uncollected fees from the claims. According to the claimant, neither Education Code section 76355 nor the Health Fee Elimination parameters and guidelines require a community college district to charge the student a health fee. And Government Code sections 17514 and 17556 do not require collecting a fee. Claimant argues that the amount collectible will never equal actual revenue collected due to changes in student BOGG (Board of Governors Grants) eligibility, bad debt accounts, and refunds.²³

State Controller’s Office

It is the Controller’s position that the audit adjustments are correct and that this IRC should be denied.

The Controller reduced the reimbursement claims for employees and services and supplies already funded with state categorical funds. The parameters and guidelines state that "reimbursement for this mandate received from any source . . . shall be identified and deducted from this claim." To not deduct the categorical fund revenues from reimbursement claims would result in the claimant being reimbursed from restricted state revenues and again from the mandate. The Controller also found that one employee's time was incorrectly allocated 60 percent to the mandated activities rather than 45 percent.

The Controller maintains that the claimant did not claim indirect costs in accordance with the parameters and guidelines and claiming instructions, which require federal approval when using the OMB Circular A-21. Since federal approval was not obtained, the Controller recalculated indirect costs using the FAM-29C, which is authorized by the claiming instructions.

The Controller also found that the claimant underreported offsetting fees authorized to be charged pursuant to Education Code section 76355(a) during fiscal years 2000-2001 and 2001-2002, and undercounted students in calculating the fee. Instead, the claimant identified only the amount of fees collected as an offset. The Controller found that to the extent that districts have authority to charge a fee, they are not required to incur a cost.

In addition, the Controller asserts that it calculated authorized health service fees based on enrollment and BOGG recipient data that the district reported to the Community College Chancellor's Office after each school term. In comments on the IRC filed on October 15, 2014, the Controller states further that "[t]he district is responsible for providing accurate enrollment and BOGG recipient data, including any changes that result from BOGG grant eligibility or students who disenroll."²⁴

The Controller filed comments concurring with the draft proposed decision.²⁵

IV. Discussion

Government Code section 17561(b) authorizes the Controller to audit the claims filed by local agencies and school districts and to reduce any claim for reimbursement of state mandated costs that the Controller determines is excessive or unreasonable.

Government Code Section 17551(d) requires the Commission to hear and decide a claim that the Controller has incorrectly reduced payments to the local agency or school district. If the Commission determines that a reimbursement claim has been incorrectly reduced, section 1185.9 of the Commission's regulations requires the Commission to send the statement of decision to the Controller and request that the costs in the claim be reinstated.

The Commission must review questions of law, including interpretation of the parameters and guidelines, de novo, without consideration of legal conclusions made by the Controller in the context of an audit. The Commission is vested with exclusive authority to adjudicate disputes over the existence of state-mandated programs within the meaning of article XIII B, section 6.²⁶ The Commission must also interpret the Government Code and implementing regulations in accordance with the broader constitutional and statutory scheme. In making its decisions, the Commission must strictly construe article XIII B, section 6 and not apply it as an "equitable remedy to cure the perceived unfairness resulting from political decisions on funding priorities.”²⁷

With regard to the Controller’s audit decisions, the Commission must determine whether they were arbitrary, capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support. This standard is similar to the standard used by the courts when reviewing an alleged abuse of discretion of a state agency.²⁸ Under this standard, the courts have found that:

When reviewing the exercise of discretion, “[t]he scope of review is limited, out of deference to the agency’s authority and presumed expertise: ‘The court may not reweigh the evidence or substitute its judgment for that of the agency. [Citation.]’” ... “In general ... the inquiry is limited to whether the decision was arbitrary, capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support. . . .” [Citations.] When making that inquiry, the “ ‘court must ensure that an agency has adequately considered all relevant factors, and has demonstrated a rational connection between those factors, the choice made, and the purposes of the enabling statute.’ ” [Citation.]”²⁹

The Commission must review the Controller’s audit in light of the fact that the initial burden of providing evidence for a claim of reimbursement lies with the claimant.³⁰ In addition, sections 1185.1(f)(3) and 1185.2(c) of the Commission’s regulations require that any assertions of fact by the parties to an IRC must be supported by documentary evidence. The Commission’s ultimate findings of fact must be supported by substantial evidence in the record.³¹

A. The Controller’s Reduction of Indirect Costs is Correct as a Matter of Law and the Recalculation of Indirect Costs Using the FAM-29C Methodology is Reasonable in this Case, Since Claimant did not get Approval as Required by OMB A-21, and is not Arbitrary, Capricious, or Entirely Lacking in Evidentiary Support.

In its audit, the Controller reduced indirect costs claimed by $570,878 ($172,093 for 2000-2001, $247,577 for 2001-2002, and $151,208 for 2002-2003). Claimant prepared its indirect cost rate proposals in accordance with the methodology in OMB Circular A-21, but did not obtain federal approval of the indirect cost rate, as required by the parameters and guidelines and claiming instructions. Indirect costs of $231,338 (48.7 percent) were claimed for 2000-2001, $325,459

(48.83 percent) for 2001-2002, and $232,594 (33.62 percent) for 2002-2003. The Controller recalculated the indirect cost rate using the FAM-29C methodology authorized by the claiming instructions, finding that $59,245 (13.03 percent) was allowed for 2000-2001, $77,882 (12.83 percent) was allowed for 2001-2002 and $81,386 (12.57 percent) was allowed for 2002-2003.³²

Section VI of the parameters and guidelines provides that “indirect costs may be claimed in the manner described by the State Controller in his claiming instructions.”³³ Claimant argues that the word “may” in the indirect cost language of the parameters and guidelines is permissive, and that therefore the parameters and guidelines do not require that indirect costs be claimed in the manner described by the Controller.³⁴

Claimant’s argument is unsound: the parameters and guidelines plainly state that “indirect costs may be claimed in the manner described by the State Controller in his claiming instructions.” The interpretation that is consistent with the plain language of the parameters and guidelines is that “indirect costs may be claimed,” or may not, but if they are claimed, the claimant must adhere to the parameters and guidelines and claim indirect costs in the manner described in the Controller’s claiming instructions. Claimants are required as a matter of law to file reimbursement claims in accordance with the parameters and guidelines.³⁵

Claimant also argues that because the claiming instructions were never adopted as law, or regulations pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, the claiming instructions do not have the force of law.³⁶ In the Clovis Unified School District case, the Controller’s contemporaneous source document rule was held to be an unenforceable underground regulation because it was applied generally against school districts and had never been adopted as a regulation under the Administrative Procedure Act.³⁷ Here, claimant implies that the claiming instructions are also an underground regulation with respect to indirect cost rates. But the distinction is that here the parameters and guidelines, which were duly adopted at a Commission hearing and are regulatory in nature, require compliance with the claiming instructions.

The claiming instructions specific to the Health Fee Elimination mandate, revised September 1997, provide two options for claiming indirect costs:

Chiang* (2010) 188 Cal.App.4th 794, 799, finding that the parameters and guidelines are regulatory in nature.

For claiming indirect costs college districts have the option of using a federally approved rate (i.e., utilizing the cost accounting principles from the Office of Management and Budget Circular A-21), or the State Controller's methodology outlined in "Filing a Claim" of the Mandated Cost Manual for Schools [i.e., FAM-29C].³⁸

The School Mandated Cost Manual is revised each year and contains claiming instructions applicable to all school and community college mandated programs. The cost manuals issued by the Controller in October 1998, September 2001, and September 2003, which govern the reimbursement claims filed for the audit period in this case, allow indirect costs to be claimed by using the OMB Circular A-21 or the FAM-29C.³⁹

The claimant here used the OMB Circular A-21 methodology, which establishes principles for determining costs applicable to grants, contracts, and other agreements between the federal government and educational institutions. Section G(11) of the OMB Circular A-21 governs the determination of indirect cost rates and requires the federal approval of a proposed rate by the "cognizant federal agency," which is normally either the Federal Department of Health and Human Services or the Department of Defense's Office of Naval Research.⁴⁰ Claimants who choose the OMB Circular A-21 methodology must obtain federal approval of their calculation of their rates through formal negotiation, an informal correspondence process or a simplified method which sets the indirect cost rate using a salaries and wage base.⁴¹ The end result of the negotiation process is a sponsored agreement in which final approval lies with the federal government negotiating the rate and must be supported by "adequate documentation to support costs charged to sponsored agreements."⁴² Thus, a claimant that has received federal approval for their indirect cost rate has negotiated specific direct costs with the relevant federal approving agency.

Here, claimant did not negotiate a particular rate but applied the general principles of the OMB Circular A-21 to direct costs it determined to be applicable.⁴³ Since claimant did not negotiate with a federal agency to determine appropriate direct costs to calculate the indirect costs rate, there has been no federal analysis of whether the direct costs used would have received federal approval. Thus, the Controller, in auditing the claimant's indirect cost rate could not determine whether claimant's direct costs used to calculate their rate would have received federal approval or been rejected as including impermissible direct costs.

Therefore, the Commission finds that the Controller's reduction of costs is correct as a matter of law.

Instead of reducing indirect costs to $0, the Controller recalculated the indirect cost rate using the FAM-29C methodology. The Commission finds that the Controller's recalculation of indirect costs using the FAM-29C methodology is reasonable in this case, since claimant did not get approval as required by OMB A-21, and so using the FAM-29C is not arbitrary, capricious or entirely lacking in evidentiary support.

B. The Controller's Reduction based on Offsetting Health Fee Authority is Correct as a Matter of Law, and the Recalculation of Offsetting Fees is Not Arbitrary, Capricious, or Entirely Lacking in Evidentiary Support.

The Controller reduced $796,744 from the reimbursement claims because the claimant was authorized to collect a total of $2,195,764 in fees for the program, but only reported offsetting fees of $1,399,020. The claimant did not charge a health services fee to students attending its police and fire academy because those students receive full health benefits from their local agency employers and do not contribute to the cost of the mandated program.⁴⁴ In addition, the Controller found that the claimant underreported authorized health fees by $1 per student for the summer of 2000-2001 and for all of 2001-2002.⁴⁵

Claimant argues that neither Education Code section 76355(a), nor the parameters and guidelines, requires the claimant's to charge their students a health services fee, and that the parameters and guidelines require that for the health fee to be used as an offset, it must be "experienced" (or collected) by the claimant.⁴⁶ Claimant further argues that the relevant offset is the amount of fees collected and not the amount authorized by statute:

This issue is one of student health fees revenue actually received, rather than student health fees which might be collected. Student fees not collected are student fees not "experienced" and as such should not reduce reimbursement. Further, the amount "collectible" will never equal actual revenues collected due to changes in student's BOGG eligibility, bad debt accounts, and refunds.

Because districts are not required to collect a fee from students for student health services, and if such a fee is collected, the amount is to be determined by the District and not the Controller, the Controller's adjustment is without legal basis.⁴⁷

The Commission finds that the application of offsetting student health fees has been resolved by the court's decision in Clovis Unified School Dist. v. Chiang,⁴⁸ and that the reduction is correct as a matter of law. The Clovis decision specifically addressed the Controller's practice of reducing community college district claims under the Health Fee Elimination program by the maximum fee amount that districts are statutorily authorized to charge students, whether or not a district chooses to charge those fees, calling this practice “The Controller’s Health Fee Rule,” which the court expressed as:

Eligible claimants will be reimbursed for health service costs at the level of service provided in the 1986/87 fiscal year. The reimbursement will be reduced by the amount of student health fees authorized per the Education Code [section] 76355.⁴⁹

Education Code section 76355(a) provides in relevant part the following:

(a)(1) The governing board of a district maintaining a community college may require community college students to pay a fee in the total amount of not more than ten dollars ($10) for each semester, seven dollars ($7) for summer school, seven dollars ($7) for each intersession of at least four weeks, or seven dollars ($7) for each quarter for health supervision and services, including direct or indirect medical and hospitalization services, or the operation of a student health center or centers, or both.

(a)(2) The governing board of each community college district may increase this [health service] fee by the same percentage increase as the Implicit Price Deflator for State and Local Government Purchase of Goods and Services. Whenever that calculation produces an increase of one dollar ($1) above the existing fee, the fee may be increased by one dollar ($1).⁵⁰

During the audit period, Education Code section 76355(c) further authorized the health fee to be charged to all students, including police and fire academy students, except the following:

- (1) Students who depend exclusively upon prayer for healing in accordance with the teachings of a bona fide religious sect, denomination, or organization.
- (2) Students who are attending a community college under an approved apprenticeship training program.
- (3) Low-income students, including students who demonstrate financial need in accordance with the methodology set forth in federal law or regulation for determining the expected family contribution of students seeking financial aid and students who demonstrate eligibility according to income standards established by the board of governors and contained in Section 58620 of Title 5 of the California Code of Regulation.⁵¹

⁵⁰ Education Code section 76355, as amended by Statutes 1995, chapter 758.

Nothing in the plain language of section 76355(c) exempts police and fire academy students from the health fee. The Commission, like a court, does not read into a statute “language it does not contain or elements that do not appear on its face.”⁵² Therefore, the Commission finds that the district had the authority to charge police and fire academy students the health fee, and the Controller’s reduction of claimed costs by the amounts not charged to those students is correct as a matter of law.

Pursuant to the plain language of Education Code section 76355(a)(2), the fee authority given to districts automatically increases at the same rate as the Implicit Price Deflator; when that calculation produces an increase of one dollar above the existing fee, the fee may be increased by one dollar.⁵³ The Chancellor of the California Community Colleges issues a notice to the governing boards of all community colleges when a fee increase is triggered.

Claimant argues that neither Education Code section 76355, nor the parameters and guidelines require a community college district to charge the student a health fee. Claimant also asserts that Government Code sections 17514 and 17556 do not require collection of a fee.⁵⁴

But the court in the Clovis decision upheld, as a matter of law, the Controller’s use of the Health Fee Rule to reduce reimbursement claims based on the fees districts are authorized to charge. The court noted that its conclusion is consistent with the state mandates process embodied in Government Code sections 17514 and 17556(d), and that: “To the extent a local agency or school district ‘has the authority’ to charge for the mandated program or increased level of service, that charge cannot be recovered as a state-mandated cost.”⁵⁵ The court also noted that, “... this basic principle flows from common sense as well. As the Controller succinctly puts it, ‘Claimants can choose not to require these fees, but not at the state’s expense.’”⁵⁶

Although the claimant here was not a party to the Clovis case, it is binding on the claimant under principles of collateral estoppel, which applies when (1) the issue necessarily decided in the previous proceeding is identical to the one that is currently being decided; (2) the previous proceeding terminated with a final judgment on the merits; (3) the party against whom collateral estoppel is asserted is a party to or in privity with a party in the previous proceeding; and (4) the party against whom the earlier decision is asserted had a full and fair opportunity to litigate the issue.⁵⁷ The issue decided by the court is identical to the issue in this IRC. In addition, the claimant here has privity with the petitioners in the Clovis case. “A party is adequately represented for purposes of the privity rule if his or her interests are so similar to a party's interest that the latter was the former's virtual representative in the earlier action."⁵⁸ Also, the Controller was a party to the Clovis action and is bound to comply with the court's decision for all matters addressing the Health Fee Elimination program. Since the Clovis case is a final decision of the court addressing the merits of the issue presented here, the Commission, under principles of stare decisis, is required to apply the rule set forth by the court.⁵⁹

Thus, the Commission finds that the Controller's reduction of costs claimed based on fee authority is correct as a matter of law.

The Commission also finds that the Controller's recalculation of authorized offsetting fee authority using the claimant's actual billable student account (Report #1365) is not arbitrary, capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support. As the Controller explained:

The district used the student counts from Report No. 1920 rather than Report No. 1365. Report No. 1920 includes selected students used for census purposes. Report No. 1365 includes students taking credit courses, exclusive of students in non-credit courses. Report No. 1365 also includes the number of health fee exemptions.⁶⁰

The data in claimant's Report #1365 is consistent with the fee authority provisions of Education Code section 76355. Moreover, the claimant does not argue that the use of the report is incorrect or that the Controller's recalculation is wrong.

Accordingly, the Commission finds that the Controller's recalculation is not arbitrary, capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support.

V. Conclusion

Pursuant to Government Code section 17551(d), the Commission concludes that the following adjustments in the Controller's audit of the 2000-2001, 2001-2002 and 2002-2003 fiscal year reimbursement claims are correct as a matter of law, and the Controller's recalculations are not arbitrary, capricious, or entirely lacking in evidentiary support:

- The reduction of $570,878 in indirect costs based on claimant's failure to comply with the claiming instructions and the OMB Circular in the development of its indirect cost rate, and the Controller's indirect cost calculation by an alternative method authorized by the claiming instructions.
- The reduction of $796,744 based on the reported health fees collected, rather than the full amount claimant was authorized to collect, pursuant to the court's ruling in Clovis Unified School Dist. v. Chiang (2010) 188 Cal.App.4th 794, 812.

⁵⁹ Fenske v. Board of Administration (1980) 103 Cal.App.3d 590, 596.

Because claimant's total offsetting fee authority ($2,195,764) for the audit period is higher than the total direct costs claimed combined with the allowable indirect costs claimed ($2,148,725), the Commission does not address the remaining reductions challenged by the claimant.

Therefore, the Commission denies this IRC.
